

ENCHANTING LIFE UNLEASHED

THE LUNAR ALIGNMENT SYSTEM • STEP TWO

The Lunar Alignment Starter Kit.

for your first real cycle

A 28-day workbook + reusable tracker. Built to use, not to admire.

YOUR STARTER KIT

Two pieces. One system.

The Lunar Alignment Starter Kit has two parts. Both work alone. Together, they're the full system.

The Workbook. This. Twenty-eight days, eight phases, fillable spreads. You open it on Day 1 of your cycle and close it on Day 28. Each phase gets its own pages — read the left, write on the right. One cycle, one workbook, no shortcuts.

The Tracker. A reusable one-page download. The whole cycle on a single sheet — eight phase boxes, fillable date and note for each. Print it again every cycle. After you've run the workbook once, the tracker is what you'll reach for.

HOW THEY WORK TOGETHER

Cycle 1 — Run the full workbook. Use the tracker as your at-a-glance map.

Cycle 2 onward — The tracker carries the system. The workbook stays on the shelf for cycles where you need the depth back.

You don't need anything else. Not an app. Not a moon-calendar subscription. Not a journal-prompt deck. The system is in your hands.

Turn the page. Read how the workbook runs, then write your start date on the calendar.

WHY YOU BOUGHT THIS

Reading the model isn't running it.

You've read the Quick Start Guide. You know the eight phases. You know what each one is for. Knowing isn't doing.

This workbook is what doing looks like.

Twenty-eight days. Eight phases. One commitment. Pages you fill in, not pages you flip through.

Each phase has a spread:

- Left page — the recap. Why this phase, what its job is, what to look for.
- Right page — the practice. The Action. The optional ritual. The journal prompt with space to actually write.

You're not collecting information anymore. You're running a cycle.

THE RULE

Open this workbook on Day 1 of your cycle. Run the phase you're in. When the moon shifts, turn the page. Don't read ahead. Don't run the whole book in one sitting. Twenty-eight days. One phase at a time.

The next new moon is in your weather app. That's your start date. Write it on Page 4.

YOUR CYCLE, MAPPED

The next 28 days.

Write your start date in the New Moon slot. Every other date fills itself in. (28 days from now, you start the next cycle. The compound holds.)

PHASE ONE · DAY 1

• New Moon.

BEGIN • SEED • INTEND

Dark moon. No light yet. The cycle starts in stillness because beginnings need stillness — not adrenaline.

Most people pile six commitments onto a new month and burn out by week two. The new moon teaches the opposite: one thing.

Not five priorities. Not a vision board. One specific commitment, present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days.

This is the standard you'll measure against at the Full Moon. Set it carefully.

“I want to feel better” is not a commitment. It's a wish. Wishes don't survive Wednesday.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

PHASE TWO · DAYS 2-6

Waxing Crescent.

MOVE • REACH • START

First reps. The intention you set at the new moon needs an action today. Not when you're ready. Today.

The crescent doesn't wait for full light to start showing up. Neither do you.

This is the phase where you stop preparing and start doing. Imperfectly. With visible flaws. Anyway.

The first reps are always ugly. They count.

The polish comes later. Show up first, polish second. Polish-first is procrastination wearing a smart outfit.

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTIONMINI RITUALOptional.*

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

PHASE THREE · DAYS 7-9

● First Quarter.

COMMIT • ACT • DECIDE

Half light, half dark. This is the decision phase. Resistance shows up here disguised as logic — not enough time, not the right moment, not the right approach.

The question isn't whether you're ready. The question is whether you're willing to move anyway.

A real decision has weight. It costs something to undo. "I'll think about it" is not a decision — it's a delay.

This phase asks: where are you stalling on something you already know the answer to?

You don't have an information problem. You have a decision problem. Most people confuse the two.

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

PHASE FOUR · DAYS 10-13

Waxing Gibbous.

REFINE • ADJUST • TRUST

The moon is almost full. Energy is building, but it isn't peak yet. This is the refinement phase — not the perfection phase.

You've done the reps. Now look at what's working and what isn't.

The trap of this phase: throwing out the whole plan because it's not perfect. Don't. Adjust the standard once. Keep going.

Refinement is one degree of correction. Restarting is a whole new cycle. There's a difference.

“Tweaking” is not the same as “rebuilding.” Most people rebuild when they should tweak, and tweak when they should rebuild. Learn the difference.

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from Page 6)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

○ The Full Moon Reckoning.

HONEST AUDIT • NO SPIN

Peak. Maximum visibility. This is the evaluation point of the cycle — and it's the one most people skip because it's uncomfortable.

You set a standard at the new moon. Two weeks later, the truth is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin. Just the audit.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

WHAT PRESSURE WAS PRESENT WHEN IT CRACKED

This isn't self-criticism. It's data. You can't fix what you don't honestly track.

○ The Full Moon Release.

SET DOWN • LET GO • WANE

What you named on the Reckoning page is now data. This page is what you do with it.

The waning half of the cycle starts here. The moon is past full and pulling back. So is the work.

Some of what you wrote on yesterday's page belongs in the next cycle — adjust the standard, run it again. Some of it belongs nowhere. It's done. You're done carrying it.

THE ACTION

Look at “What Cracked” and “What Pressure” on the previous page. Pick one to carry into the next cycle and address. Pick one to leave here, for good.

CARRYING INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

LEAVING HERE — DONE WITH IT

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Then close the page. Don't perform the release — just stop holding it.

PHASE SIX · DAYS 16-19

● Waning Gibbous.

SHARE ● INTEGRATE ● GIVE

The light pulls back. The cycle does too. This phase is integration — letting the lessons settle while there's still energy to share them.

Share what you've been given. Receive what's offered. Both keep you in the rhythm.

Integration sounds soft. It isn't. It's the difference between learning the same lesson twelve times and learning it once.

If the cracks from the Full Moon get spoken — to a partner, a friend, a journal, a group — they get less power. If they stay silent, they come back next cycle louder.

What stays inside, repeats. What gets named, releases. Naming isn't venting — it's structural.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

PHASE SEVEN · DAYS 20-22

Last Quarter.

CLEAR • CUT • FORGIVE

The light pulls back fast. Time to actively clear what no longer belongs — in your schedule, your space, your head.

Release isn't passive here. It's a decision.

Most things that need cutting have been on your radar for weeks. The recurring meeting that drains you. The subscription you don't use. The relationship dynamic you keep “addressing later.” The story you're telling about who someone is.

This phase says: cut one. Now.

The thing you keep meaning to remove is removing more energy than the act of removing it would cost. The math is rigged against keeping it.

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

PHASE EIGHT · DAYS 23-27

○ Waning Crescent.

REST • RESTORE • PREPARE

The moon is nearly gone. This is the most underrated phase of the cycle — the deep exhale before the next beginning.

Rest is not the reward at the end. Rest is part of the work. Without it, the next cycle starts depleted, and the compound breaks.

Productive rest is not rest. Audiobooks at 2× speed are not rest. “Rest” you’re doing because you’ll need the energy on Monday is not rest — that’s just delayed labor.

Real rest has no return on investment. That’s the point.

*You don't need permission to rest. You need a structure that makes rest non-negotiable.
This phase is that structure.*

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this workbook until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

PHASE NINE · DAY 28

• Dark Moon.

PAUSE • INTEGRATE • RESET

No action this phase. No prompts. No fillable lines.

The cycle ends in stillness, the same way it began.

*Sit with what you ran.
The next cycle starts at sunrise tomorrow.*

CYCLE ONE · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE TWO · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

REUSABLE

The Cycle Tracker.

This page lives in two places — here in the workbook, and as a separate one-page download in your Starter Kit. Print it again every cycle. Run the system without re-reading the book.

CYCLE INTENTION

END-OF-CYCLE REFLECTION

After you've run two or three cycles with this tracker, you'll know what works for you and what doesn't. The Lunar Alignment Planner is designed for that next stage — twelve cycles, mapped, with the structure baked in.

WHAT'S NEXT

You've run one cycle. Now run twelve.

You did the thing most people don't do.

You opened a workbook on Day 1.

You wrote the commitment.

You held some of it.

You broke some of it.

You kept honest data.

That's the system working.

The Lunar Alignment Planner

A full year of cycles — designed to hold.

Twelve workbooks like this one, structured into one volume.

Annual themes. Quarterly reviews. Built-in evaluations.

The Starter Kit teaches you the cycle.

The Planner makes the cycle a practice.

This is what replaces motivation when motivation drops.

You can run the cycle indefinitely with the workbook + tracker you already have.

Most people upgrade to the Planner within three cycles.

Not because they “should.” Because they feel the difference.

One cycle proves it works.

The Planner is what makes it a life.
