

ENCHANTING LIFE UNLEASHED

THE LUNAR ALIGNMENT SYSTEM • STEP THREE

The Lunar Alignment Planner.

for the year you actually run

Twelve cycles. Undated. Built to use, not to admire.

A $27 PLANNER • FOR WOMEN DONE RESTARTING

STEP 03 • PRACTICE

STEP THREE OF THE SYSTEM

Twelve cycles. One year.

You ran one cycle with the Workbook. This Planner is what twelve cycles look like when you stop starting over.

The system has three steps.

Step One — the Quick Start Guide. You read it. You learned the eight phases. You stopped pretending the calendar was running you.

Step Two — the Starter Kit Workbook. You opened it on Day 1. You set a real commitment. You hit the Full Moon honestly. You ran one cycle, end to end.

Step Three — this. Twelve cycles in one volume, with the annual scaffolding to hold a year together.

HOW THEY WORK TOGETHER

Cycle 1 — the Workbook taught you the cycle.

Cycle 2 — the Tracker ran the cycle without re-reading the book.

Cycle 3 onward — this Planner is where the cycle becomes a year-long practice.

Turn the page. Read why this exists. Then start writing.

THE PREMISE

A year is twelve cycles. Not 365 grid days.

Most planners hand you a calendar and call it a system. A calendar is not a system. A calendar is a grid you can fill with anything – productivity, busywork, performance. The cycle is a rhythm you cannot fake.

The standard year-planner story is a January 1 reset and a December 31 finish line. Set goals in week one, work toward them, evaluate at year-end. The math sounds clean. The math is wrong.

A year is not one twelve-month sprint. A year is twelve cycles, each one twenty-eight days long, each one a complete arc: set a standard, build it, evaluate it, release what didn't work, rest before the next one.

Twelve evaluations a year. Twelve releases. Twelve fresh starts.

Most people get one fresh start in January, one frantic recommitment in September, and a December shame-spiral about everything they didn't do. That math doesn't compound. That math depletes.

A year of cycle work is twelve standards, twelve audits, twelve resets. The compound isn't in the resolution. The compound is in the repetition.

The cycle math is different. You set a real standard at the New Moon. You hold it for two weeks. At the Full Moon, you audit honestly — what held, what cracked, what pressure was present in the moments it broke. You don't wait until December to find out you've been off-pattern since March.

By cycle three, you start noticing your patterns. The same crack shows up at the same phase. The same Tuesday-at-eight-PM commitment-failure point. The same energy dip at Day 22. That isn't a flaw. That's information. Twelve cycles a year means twelve chances to see it and adjust.

By cycle six, you trust the rhythm. You stop bracing for failure mid-cycle because you know the Full Moon page is coming and you can be honest there. You stop performing perfection because the Last Quarter cut is built into the architecture.

By cycle twelve, the practice is no longer a discipline. It's the way you operate.

The Planner you're holding is built for that arc. Twelve identical cycle sections — because the work is the same work, twelve times. Annual scaffolding — because some of the work is bigger than one cycle and needs a longer container. Year-end reflection — because the compound deserves to be named.

One cycle proves the model.

Three cycles prove the compound.

Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

This Planner is the architecture.

THE COVER IS THE START DATE. TURN THE PAGE.

YOUR YEAR, NAMED

One word.

A theme is not a goal. A theme is the lens you keep returning to. Pick the word that, twelve cycles from now, you want to be the way you describe what you became.

My word for this year

Why this word

What it costs me to choose this

Themes that cost nothing don't change anything. Name what you're saying yes to and what you're saying no to in the same breath.

What it stops being acceptable for me to do

Write the word once. Read it twelve times. Carry it through every cycle.

THREE INTENTIONS

What you're actually committing to.

Three intentions. No more. Each one specific enough to break, observable enough to measure. “Be more present” is not an intention. It's a wish. “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights” is an intention.

INTENTION ONE

THE OBSERVABLE MEASURE — how will I know if I held it?

INTENTION TWO

THE OBSERVABLE MEASURE

INTENTION THREE

THE OBSERVABLE MEASURE

Three is the cap. If you have a fourth, you don't have an intention — you have a wish list. Cut it.

THE YEAR, MAPPED

Twelve months. Your order.

Write the month name in each cell, starting from whatever month you're starting this Planner in. Note the season, anchors, big known dates. The grid is undated on purpose — your year doesn't have to start in January.

MONTH 1 	MONTH 2 	MONTH 3 	MONTH 4
MONTH 5 	MONTH 6 	MONTH 7 	MONTH 8
MONTH 9 	MONTH 10 	MONTH 11 	MONTH 12

The cycle starts on its own schedule. Use this page to mark what's coming, not to plan around what isn't here yet.

Three habits. One row each.

Pick up to three habits that need a year of compound. Mark each cell at the end of each month — full / partial / missed. After three quarters you'll see the pattern. The pattern is what you adjust.

Habits that work in this format are binary or near-binary — did the thing or didn't. Daily walk. Morning protein. No work after 6 PM. Reading instead of scrolling.

Habits that don't work in this format are vague — be healthier, be more positive, balance better. Make those three intentions on Page 6 instead.

HABIT	M1	M2	M3	M4	M5	M6	M7	M8	M9	M10	M11	M12
HABIT 1
HABIT 2
HABIT 3

Mark cells in pencil. Adjust habits at the quarterly reviews if the data says one isn't earning its row.

FOUR QUARTERS AHEAD

What each three-cycle window is for.

A year is too long to plan in detail. Three cycles is right-sized. Name the theme of each quarter loosely — what's the focus, what's the season asking for, what's the work you want this stretch to hold.

QUARTER ONE — Cycles 1-3

The opening quarter. Energy is fresh, the year is new, the standard is being set.

QUARTER TWO — Cycles 4-6

The middle of the first half. The newness has worn off. The compound starts here.

QUARTER THREE — Cycles 7-9

The back half opens. Old patterns will resurface. The cuts get sharper here.

QUARTER FOUR — Cycles 10-12

The closing stretch. The year is in your handwriting now. Finish the work that earned the year.

THE RULE

One cycle at a time. Don't read ahead.

This Planner is not a book. You don't read it. You run it.

You've already done the orientation work in the Quick Start Guide and the practice work in the Starter Kit Workbook. This Planner assumes you know the eight phases. It assumes you can write a real commitment without prompting.

What this Planner is: twelve clean places to run the cycle, with the annual scaffolding to hold them together.

Start by filling in Pages 5–9 — the annual theme, the three intentions, the year-at-a-glance, the habit tracker, the quarterly preview. Spend a real hour on this. The cleaner the front matter, the better the year compounds.

Then turn to Cycle 1, mark your start date in the opener, and run the cycle exactly the way you ran it with the Workbook. Phase by phase. Page by page. Don't read ahead.

Every three cycles, a Quarterly Review appears. You stop. You look up. You name what shipped, what stalled, what the pattern is, what you're tightening. Then you keep going. After twelve cycles, you reach the Year-End section — six pages of structured reflection and a closing essay.

THE RULE

Run the cycle you're in. Fill the page you're on. Don't skip ahead. Don't restart from zero when you crack — adjust at the next Reckoning page and keep going. The compound only works if you stay in the rhythm.

Pick up a pencil. Turn to Page 5. Write the word.

CYCLE ONE · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 01.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

First cycle of the year. The standard you set here is the one you measure against in two weeks.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE

☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTION

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE ONE · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE ONE · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE ONE · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE TWO · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

CYCLE TWO · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 02.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

Second cycle. The first one taught you something. This one runs that lesson live.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE

☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTION

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE TWO · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE TWO · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE TWO · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE THREE · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

CYCLE THREE · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 03.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

Third cycle. End of the first quarter. The pattern is starting to surface.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE

☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTION

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE THREE · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE THREE · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE THREE · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE FOUR · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

CYCLE THREE · HABITS

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

QUARTER ONE · COMPLETE

Three cycles in.

Stop. Look up. Three cycles is enough data to see a pattern. The point of a quarter is not to start over. It's to adjust the next three cycles based on what the last three taught you.

WHAT SHIPPED

What did you actually do? Not what you thought about doing – what got finished, completed, sent, closed, kept.

WHAT STALLED

What carried over, cycle to cycle, never closing? Be specific. Stalls have shapes – name yours.

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

Not the surface story. The repeating thing. The crack that showed up the same way three times.

ONE ADJUSTMENT FOR Q2

One. Not five. One change to the standard, one habit swap, one removed commitment. Make it specific.

QUARTER TWO · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

Three cycles closes. The next three open. Decide what travels.

CARRYING FORWARD INTO Q2

Standards that earned their place. Habits that compounded. Insights worth keeping in front of you.

LEAVING HERE — DONE WITH IT

The thing you keep half-doing. The recurring item that drains energy disproportionate to its value. Cut it cleanly.

THE ONE THING I'M TIGHTENING

Pick one standard, habit, or boundary that needs more weight. Sharper edge. Higher bar.

Turn the page. Cycle 4 starts.

CYCLE FOUR · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 04.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

Fourth cycle. Q2 opens. The newness has worn off — the compound starts here.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE

☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTION

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE FOUR · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE FOUR · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE FOUR · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE FIVE · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

CYCLE FIVE · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 05.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

Fifth cycle. Mid-spring of the work. Hold the standard. Trust the rhythm.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE

☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTION

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE FIVE · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE FIVE · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE FIVE · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE SIX · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

CYCLE SIX · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 06.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

Sixth cycle. Halfway. The architecture is starting to take.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTIONMINI RITUALOptional.*

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE SIX · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE SIX · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE SIX · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE SEVEN · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

QUARTER TWO · COMPLETE

Six cycles in.

Six cycles in. The compound is starting. Halfway through the year — the tempo you set in the next three cycles is the tempo of the back half.

WHAT SHIPPED

What did you actually do? Not what you thought about doing — what got finished, completed, sent, closed, kept.

WHAT STALLED

What carried over, cycle to cycle, never closing? Be specific. Stalls have shapes — name yours.

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

Not the surface story. The repeating thing. The crack that showed up the same way three times.

ONE ADJUSTMENT FOR Q3

One. Not five. One change to the standard, one habit swap, one removed commitment. Make it specific.

QUARTER THREE · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

Three cycles closes. The next three open. Decide what travels.

CARRYING FORWARD INTO Q3

Standards that earned their place. Habits that compounded. Insights worth keeping in front of you.

LEAVING HERE — DONE WITH IT

The thing you keep half-doing. The recurring item that drains energy disproportionate to its value. Cut it cleanly.

THE ONE THING I'M TIGHTENING

Pick one standard, habit, or boundary that needs more weight. Sharper edge. Higher bar.

Turn the page. Cycle 7 starts.

CYCLE SEVEN · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 07.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

Seventh cycle. Q3 opens. Old patterns will resurface. Cuts get sharper here.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: "I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights." Not: "I want better balance."

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to "eventually"?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTIONMINI RITUALOptional.*

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE SEVEN · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE SEVEN · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE SEVEN · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE EIGHT · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

CYCLE EIGHT · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 08.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

Eighth cycle. The stretch where most people drift. Don't.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTIONMINI RITUALOptional.*

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE EIGHT · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE EIGHT · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE EIGHT · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE NINE · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1 _____

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2 _____

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3 _____

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

CYCLE NINE · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 09.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

Ninth cycle. The patterns are clear by now. Use the data.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTIONMINI RITUALOptional.*

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE NINE · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE NINE · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE NINE · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE TEN · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

QUARTER THREE · COMPLETE

Nine cycles in.

Nine cycles in. The patterns are clear now. The work of the back half is sharper, narrower, less forgiving of vagueness. Read the last three cycles like data — not story.

WHAT SHIPPED

What did you actually do? Not what you thought about doing — what got finished, completed, sent, closed, kept.

WHAT STALLED

What carried over, cycle to cycle, never closing? Be specific. Stalls have shapes — name yours.

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

Not the surface story. The repeating thing. The crack that showed up the same way three times.

ONE ADJUSTMENT FOR Q4

One. Not five. One change to the standard, one habit swap, one removed commitment. Make it specific.

QUARTER FOUR · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

Three cycles closes. The next three open. Decide what travels.

CARRYING FORWARD INTO Q4

Standards that earned their place. Habits that compounded. Insights worth keeping in front of you.

LEAVING HERE — DONE WITH IT

The thing you keep half-doing. The recurring item that drains energy disproportionate to its value. Cut it cleanly.

THE ONE THING I'M TIGHTENING

Pick one standard, habit, or boundary that needs more weight. Sharper edge. Higher bar.

Turn the page. Cycle 10 starts.

CYCLE TEN · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 10.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

Tenth cycle. Q4 opens. The closing stretch. Finish the work that earned the year.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE

☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTION

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE TEN · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE TEN · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE TEN · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE ELEVEN · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

CYCLE ELEVEN · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 11.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

Eleventh cycle. The penultimate. Sharpen the standard one more time.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTIONMINI RITUALOptional.*

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE ELEVEN · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE ELEVEN · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE ELEVEN · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

CYCLE TWELVE · SETTING UP

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1 _____

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2 _____

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3 _____

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

CYCLE TWELVE · DAYS 1-28

• Cycle 12.

BEGIN • RUN • AUDIT • RELEASE

Twelfth cycle. The last one of the year. Run it like every other one.

THEME CONNECTION — how does the year theme show up this cycle?

THIS CYCLE'S INTENTION (present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days)

START DATE _____

Open the next page when the New Moon hits. Run the cycle.

THE ACTION

Write your one commitment for this cycle. Make it present-tense, observable, achievable in 28 days. Example: “I close the laptop at 6 PM on weeknights.” Not: “I want better balance.”

MY ONE COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE

MINI RITUAL

Optional. The action does the work; this just supports it.

Two minutes of quiet. Read the commitment out loud. Put a copy where you'll see it daily — phone wallpaper, mirror, fridge. Visibility holds when memory drops.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done pretending I'll get to “eventually”?

THE ACTION

Pick one small action toward your commitment. Do it before today ends. Don't optimize. Don't perfect. Complete it.

SMALL ACTIONS THIS PHASE

☐ DAY 2 ACTION☐ DAY 3 ACTION☐ DAY 4 ACTION☐ DAY 5 ACTION☐ DAY 6 ACTION

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Each morning of this phase, re-read your commitment. Name out loud the one action you're taking that day. Then take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's the smallest version of the work I can do today?

THE ACTION

Name one decision you've been sitting on. Make it before this phase ends. A real decision — one that takes effort to reverse.

THE DECISION I'VE BEEN SITTING ON

WHAT I'M ACTUALLY DECIDING (circle one)

- ☐ Yes · Going · Doing it
- ☐ No · Stopping · Closing it
- ☐ Other: _____

WHEN _____

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write the resistance story you've been telling yourself ("It's not the right time because...") on one line. Then write the counter-move on the next line. Take the counter-move within 48 hours.

JOURNAL PROMPT

Where am I hesitating? What would I do if I knew I couldn't get it wrong?

THE ACTION

Review your commitment honestly. Is the standard you set the right one? If not, adjust it once. Then keep going.

ORIGINAL COMMITMENT (from this cycle's opener)

WHAT'S WORKING

WHAT NEEDS ONE ADJUSTMENT

REVISED COMMITMENT (if needed)

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

One sentence of honest evaluation, said out loud. Not "I should be doing more." Try: "I held the boundary three times this week. I cracked twice. Both cracks were Tuesday at 8 PM." That's data. Data adjusts. Shame doesn't.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What's holding? What's slipping? What's one adjustment, not ten?

CYCLE TWELVE · DAY 14 · MID-CYCLE

Three questions. Three honest answers.

You're halfway. The cycle's biggest evaluation is tomorrow at the Full Moon. Tonight, just notice.

REFLECTION

What's holding?

REFLECTION

What's slipping?

REFLECTION

What's the pattern?

No fixing tonight. Just notice. Tomorrow at the Full Moon, you write the audit.

CYCLE TWELVE · DAYS 14-15 · FULL MOON

○ The audit.

HONEST DATA • ONE CARRY • ONE RELEASE

Peak. Maximum visibility. The truth about the standard you set is in.

THE ACTION

Three sentences. What held this cycle. What cracked. What pressure was present in the moments it broke. No softening. No spin.

WHAT HELD

WHAT CRACKED

PRESSURE WHEN IT CRACKED

THE RELEASE — one to carry, one to leave

CARRYING

LEAVING HERE

Read the “leaving here” line out loud once. Close the page.

THE ACTION

Tell one person — partner, friend, journal — what this cycle taught you. Or pass along a resource that helped you to someone who'd use it. Not to perform learning. To make it real.

WHO I TOLD

WHAT I TOLD THEM

WHAT I OFFERED OR PASSED ALONG

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

This week: accept one offered thing graciously. Help. Rest. A compliment. A meal. Don't deflect. Don't earn it. Take it.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What did this cycle reveal? What can I share or receive without resistance?

THE ACTION

Identify one thing to remove this phase. A standing meeting. A subscription. A draft email you've been meaning to send. A surface you've been meaning to clear. Cut it.

WHAT I'M CUTTING

WHEN

WHAT IT FREES UP

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Clear one physical surface — a drawer, a desk, a corner of your closet. Outer mirrors inner.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What am I done carrying? What gets cut this week?

THE ACTION

Cancel or defer one thing this phase that doesn't need to happen now. Replace it with actual rest. Not productive rest. Real rest.

WHAT I'M DEFERRING

HOW I'M ACTUALLY RESTING

MINI RITUAL

Optional.

Write one sentence about how you want to feel at the next new moon. Then close this Planner until then.

JOURNAL PROMPT

What do I need more of right now? What am I ready to release before the next cycle begins?

CYCLE TWELVE · COMPLETE

What this cycle taught you.

Before you start the next one, document what this one was. Future-you will look back and see the arc you're building.

MY COMMITMENT THIS CYCLE WAS

WHAT I ACTUALLY HELD (% or rough fraction)

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

WHAT BROKE THE STANDARD MOST OFTEN

THE ONE CHANGE THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED MOST

YEAR-END · BEGINNING

What you're carrying forward.

WHAT'S COMING WITH ME INTO THE NEXT CYCLE

WHAT I'M LEAVING HERE FOR GOOD

THE ONE THING I'D ADJUST FOR NEXT CYCLE

MY NEXT NEW MOON IS

One cycle proves the model. Three cycles prove the compound. Twelve cycles change the architecture of how you live.

Three habits. Twenty-eight days.

Mark each cell at the end of the day. Filled = held. Half-shaded = partial. Empty = missed. End of cycle, count the rows. The number tells the truth.

HABIT 1 _____

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 2 _____

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

HABIT 3 _____

D1	D2	D3	D4	D5	D6	D7	D8	D9	D10	D11	D12	D13	D14
D15	D16	D17	D18	D19	D20	D21	D22	D23	D24	D25	D26	D27	D28

Pencil. Honest marks. The cells are not graded — they are mirrored.

Whatever doesn't fit anywhere else.

QUARTER FOUR · COMPLETE

Twelve cycles.

Twelve cycles. The year is in your handwriting. Read it back. This is the last quarterly review of the year — the bridge into the year-end work.

WHAT SHIPPED

What did you actually do? Not what you thought about doing — what got finished, completed, sent, closed, kept.

WHAT STALLED

What carried over, cycle to cycle, never closing? Be specific. Stalls have shapes — name yours.

THE PATTERN I NOTICED

Not the surface story. The repeating thing. The crack that showed up the same way three times.

ONE ADJUSTMENT FOR YEAR-END

One. Not five. One change to the standard, one habit swap, one removed commitment. Make it specific.

YEAR-END · BEGINNING

What you're closing the year with.

Three cycles closes. The next three open. Decide what travels.

CARRYING FORWARD INTO THE YEAR-END

Standards that earned their place. Habits that compounded. Insights worth keeping in front of you.

LEAVING HERE — DONE WITH IT

The thing you keep half-doing. The recurring item that drains energy disproportionate to its value. Cut it cleanly.

THE ONE THING I'M TIGHTENING

Pick one standard, habit, or boundary that needs more weight. Sharper edge. Higher bar.

Turn the page. The year-end reflection begins.

THE YEAR · REVIEWED

What this year was.

Twelve cycles of data. Twelve Full Moon audits. Twelve releases. Now read it all back at once.

FULL-YEAR WINS

Not what you “should” celebrate. The actual list. Things shipped. Standards held. Boundaries that didn't crack. Habits that compounded.

FULL-YEAR CRACKS

The repeating breaks. The same crack across multiple cycles. What didn't compound, and why.

What changed in you.

WHAT CHANGED IN YOU

THE YEAR · REVIEWED

The year's most-repeated lesson.

One lesson. Not five. The thing the Full Moon page kept returning to, cycle after cycle. The pattern you finally saw clearly somewhere around cycle eight. The thing you'll teach future-you when she forgets.

THE LESSON

THE YEAR · REVIEWED

What surprised you. What you'd do differently.

WHAT SURPRISED YOU

Where did the cycle take you somewhere the year-start version of you couldn't have predicted? What habit you didn't think would matter ended up mattering most?

WHAT YOU'D DO DIFFERENTLY (for Cycle 1 of next year)

Not regret – instruction. The thing past-you in this Planner needed and didn't have. Write it as if you're handing it to her on Day 1.

NAME WHAT HELD

Name your wins. Out loud.

Unnamed work doesn't compound. The point of this page is not to perform celebration. The point is to say out loud — to yourself, in your own handwriting — what actually happened this year.

Read this list back to past-you. Read it back to next-year you. Name the wins clearly enough that they survive being said in a normal voice.

THE WINS

No qualifier. No "but I should have done more." Just the wins.

NAME WHAT YOU CARRIED

What you held through.

Some of the year's biggest wins were not what got built. Some of them were what didn't get dropped, even when dropping it would have been easier.

The boundary you held when it cost you. The standard you didn't compromise when you were tired. The rest you actually took when productivity-brain was screaming.

WHAT I HELD THROUGH

This page is not the same as the wins page. Both pages are real. Write both.

THE THEME · REVIEWED

How the word showed up.

Twelve cycles ago, on Page 5, you wrote one word at the top. Read it now. Then write down where it appeared, when it carried weight, where you forgot it.

WHERE IT SHOWED UP

In which cycles, around which decisions, in which Reckonings? List the specific places.

WHERE IT CARRIED YOU

When did the theme do real work? When did remembering it change a choice you would have otherwise made differently?

WHERE IT FAILED

And where the word fell short.

A theme that fits perfectly all year is a theme that wasn't ambitious enough. The places it stretched and broke are data — they tell you what the next theme needs to do.

WHERE THE WORD FAILED YOU

When was it the wrong frame? When did you have to set it aside because it couldn't carry the work? Be specific.

WHAT THIS TELLS ME ABOUT NEXT YEAR'S THEME

What needs to be in the next word that wasn't in this one? What does next year need that this year couldn't provide?

NEXT YEAR · THEME

Pick the next word.

The Year-End reflection is informing this. Read what you just wrote on the Theme Review pages. What word does the year ahead need?

MY WORD FOR NEXT YEAR

WHY THIS WORD

WHAT IT COSTS ME TO CHOOSE THIS

NEXT YEAR · SETTING UP

Three intentions. One start date.

Same anti-vagueness rule. Each intention specific enough to break, observable enough to measure.

INTENTION ONE

OBSERVABLE MEASURE

INTENTION TWO

OBSERVABLE MEASURE

INTENTION THREE

OBSERVABLE MEASURE

CYCLE 1 OF NEXT YEAR BEGINS ON

That date is the start of the next loop. Mark it. Carry the word with you.

WHAT SHAPED THIS YEAR

Books. People. Things you'd hand past-you.

A year is not made by you alone. Name what helped. The point isn't gratitude theater.
The point is to keep a record so you can return to what worked.

BOOKS THAT SHAPED THIS YEAR

Titles, authors, one-line of why-it-mattered.

PEOPLE WHO SHAPED THIS YEAR

Names. One line each on what they brought.

FOR PAST-YOU

What I'd recommend to past-me.

If you could hand year-start-you one thing — a book, a tool, a question, a frame, a habit — what would it be? Write it as advice she could actually use.

THE THING I'D HAND PAST-ME

Write it as a paragraph or list — whichever fits.

This list is for next year, too. Read it before Cycle 1 starts.

What twelve cycles of practice creates.

Not what you did. Who you became.

Twelve months ago, you opened this Planner and wrote a word at the top of Page 5. You set three intentions and named what they cost. You marked the calendar with your first start date.

Then you ran one cycle.

Then you ran another. And another. And eleven more after that.

Some of them held. Some of them didn't. That isn't the point.

The point is — you stopped restarting from zero. You started compounding from cycle to cycle.

The practice doesn't make you better at the practice. It makes you better at being the kind of person the practice describes.

Look at the Reckoning page from Cycle 4. Then look at the Reckoning page from Cycle 11. Read them back to back. The handwriting is the same. The honesty is different. The kind of cracking has shifted. What used to break you cleanly now barely registers. What you still break around — that's next year's work.

The architecture changed.

Your relationship to setting standards — changed. You don't pile six commitments onto a Sunday night anymore. You set one. You measure it. You hold it longer than you used to.

Your relationship to breaking standards — changed. Cracking isn't moral failure now. It's information. You audit it on the Reckoning page, you decide what to carry and what to leave, and you go.

Your relationship to rest — changed. Rest stopped being the reward at the end of a hard cycle. Rest became part of the cycle. Waning Crescent is now a real phase to you, not a euphemism for “I crashed.”

This Planner is full of fillable lines now. Some of them are messy. Some of them have entire weeks crossed out and rewritten. Some of them are blank because that cycle was a hard one and you didn't have it in you. That's all data. Future-you will read it back and see exactly what you survived.

So name the wins. Out loud. Not because you have to perform celebration — because the work happened, and unnamed work doesn't compound.

What you held. What you cut. What you made. Who you became while doing it.

Now turn the page. Pick the word for next year. Name the three intentions. Mark Cycle 1 on the new calendar.

The practice doesn't end. It just starts the next loop.

Enchanting Life Unleashed

Where soul meets strategy

THE LUNAR ALIGNMENT SYSTEM · STEP THREE

ENCHANTINGLIFEUNLEASHED.COM

Twelve cycles. One year.
Built to use, not to admire.